III. Open Forum and Announcements

A. Fleming Fields Annex Building (FFAB) Presentation

Christopher Dulak, Assistant Director for Marketing and Development, presented updated information regarding the FFAB renovation.

- Last week, the Activities Building on East Campus (ECAB) turned on the steam in order to heat the building. There were immediate steam leaks and excessive humidity accumulated throughout the building, causing water to precipitate from the ceilings and cause many problems throughout ECAB.
- Since then, there have been additional steam leaks in the Strength Training & Conditioning Room and elsewhere. Certain areas are roped off at this time while maintenance is working to fix the problems.
- October 12th—Construction bid was awarded to Hampton Construction
- October 19th—FFAB renovations began
- November 30th is the tentative completion date
  - Doesn't include shower facility change order
  - Doesn't include amenities to be installed by Campus Recreation staff
- The damaged metal panels on exterior of the building are now going to be repaired/replaced, as the construction bid was below the estimate.
- It is important to note that it is the hope of ECAB to be able to finish out the academic year and make the transition to FFAB in late spring of 2012. However, since ECAB has been experiencing many problems, especially the steam leaks, the move-in date may be earlier.
